FOR NEW INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

Ghent University is offering a warm welcome to all its new international students, exchange students as well as degree students (including PhD). Right before the beginning of each semester the International Relations Office is organizing the Welcome Days. During this three-day programme the new international students at Ghent University receive a lot of practical information about the university where they will spend (part of) their studies. A wide variety of sessions, including a visit to the faculty of their choice and a city walk in Ghent guided by Belgian students are part of the programme.

Participation in the Welcome Days is free of costs but online registration is required. More information about the Welcome Days and the link to the online registration can be found on: www.ugent.be/en/administration/welcome-days/overview.htm

INSURANCE

Make your educational life at Ghent University as adventurous and educational as possible, but live it the safe way by making sure that you have the necessary minimum health insurance and possibly also other coverage!

HEALTH INSURANCE

Health insurance is of the utmost importance because medical costs may occur unexpectedly and can be very high in Belgium.

- Students from the European Economic Area (EEA) and Switzerland are insured by their homeland medical insurance company during their stay in Belgium. Ask your insurance company for a European Health Insurance Card (EHIC) in order to receive reimbursement of medical expenses immediately in Belgium or soon after your return home. http://ehic.europa.eu

- Students from outside the European Economic Area (non-EEA) except Switzerland, or students without a European health insurance card have to take out insurance.

You have 2 options:

- Contact a local health fund (ziekenfonds or mutualiteit) upon arrival in Belgium. Belgian health insurance funds reimburse legally specified parts of all (unforeseen) medical costs.

- If you can’t get health insurance directly with the health fund, then subscribe the all-in insurance taken out by Ghent University, which covers health (sickness and disability), civil liability in private life and travel insurance. To subscribe to the all-in insurance, you will have to ask a member of staff of Ghent University (your contact person within your own faculty) to fill in the form on-line https://www.ugent.be/en/administration/insurances/students.htm

Moreover, it is recommended to contact an insurance company to subscribe an insurance for your personal belongings.

Necessary administrative steps
RULES AND REGULATIONS

Mutual consideration for each individual and respect for the university service providers and infrastructure are expected of each member of Ghent University and its guests.
EDUCATION AND EXAMINATION CODE

As a registered international student, staff or guest of Ghent University you agree to comply with the rules and regulations under which the University, its staff and students must operate. The principles of the regulations underpinning these are set out in a number of codes and regulations.

The Education and Examination Code affects every student as well as PhD students, as it covers a wide variety of important topics, such as:

- Structure of the academic year
- Description of the academic system
- Enrolment regulations
- Teaching and evaluation methods
- Rules pertaining to a study programme and/or course unit
- Provisions for educational activities
- Examination regulations
- Rules pertaining to a PhD at UGent
- Fraud and irregularities (e.g. plagiarism)
- Complaints and appeals

Every year the Education and Examination Code is reviewed and approved by the Board of Governors. Therefore all articles are valid for one academic year.

You can find the Education and Examination Code on the following website; an English translation is available on the website. www.ugent.be/en/teaching/studentadmin/OEREnglish
OTHER REGULATIONS

It is important to realize that in addition to the Education and Examination Code there are other regulations that may affect you during your stay at UGent:

- Regulations of the University Halls of Residence
  These regulations deal with the rental matters, the use of the infrastructure, and not in the least, with the appropriate social behaviour (sanctions may be imposed).
  International students and guests staying in the University Halls will receive a copy when signing the contract. This document is an integral part of the tenancy agreement.

- Disciplinary Code for Students
  [Website Link]
  There is also a disciplinary code for staff.

- Rules of proper use of the UGent network and the computers controlled by the ICT Department
  [Website Link]

- Laboratory and workplace regulation
  [Website Link]

- Acknowledgement of confidentiality and assignment of rights (visiting researchers)

  [Website Link]

  Faculties may have their own specific regulations, for example in laboratories. You can always ask a copy in your faculty.
GRIEVANCES AND COMPLAINTS

STUDENTS

Students are encouraged to raise any complaints or grievances with an appropriate member of staff at the earliest opportunity, as complaints that are dealt with informally at an early stage have the best chance of being resolved effectively.

Where informal procedures have failed to resolve the problem, students may bring a complaint under the Student Grievance Procedure. This means contacting one of the faculty ombudspersons http://www.ugent.be/en/degree/ombudsoffices.htm.

- The faculty ombudsperson treats complaints from students and staff members relating to the implementation of the Education and Examination Code and/or the provisions governing the legal position of students and/or situations which are perceived to be unfair within the wider framework of educational or examination events. They are bound to discretion.

- If the problem is not resolved through their mediation, students can contact the institutional ombuds service. The latter can be contacted via ombuds@ugent.be.
In certain situations, students may file an internal appeal with the Internal Appeals Commission, as stipulated in article 95 of the Education and Examination Code (see p. 32).

DOCTORAL STUDENTS

Your dissertation supervisor (promoter) plays a central role as the person coaching your doctoral research efforts. If, for some reason, you are unable to communicate successfully with your dissertation supervisor, please do not hesitate to speak to a faculty ombudsperson for doctoral students.

www.ugent.be/en/ghentuniv/contact/complaints.htm

Anonymous complaints cannot be accepted. All complaints will be treated confidentially.
In addition to the necessary administrative steps, some more practical matters will need to be arranged during the first days of your stay.
ACCOMMODATION

Finding accommodation prior to your arrival is not obvious. If you have not yet found a place to live upon arrival in Ghent, we strongly advise you to sort this out immediately.

You can rent a room provided by Ghent University or a room from a private landlord. Prices for a room or a studio on the private housing market vary between € 270 and € 485 per month depending on the area and the type of accommodation.

UNIVERSITY HALLS OF RESIDENCE

There are different application procedures for exchange, degree and PhD students. Prices and locations may differ. All information is available on the website of the Housing Office.

If you rent a room in a university residence you should keep in mind that:

- You need to keep your room clean and tidy.
- The furniture in the rooms and communal halls cannot be moved or removed.
- Decoration of the room is only permitted on the cork wall.
- It is forbidden to keep or to bring animals in the room or in any other place of the building. Visits are allowed but visitors cannot spend the night nor make use of any facilities.
- As from 23:00, complete silence must be observed in the entire building.
- When violating the stipulations of the internal rules and regulations, noise nuisance, theft, alcohol- and drug abuse, ...
students can be sanctioned by the Vice-chancellor (on the advice of the Board of Directors). The sanction can be:
a warning, cancellation of the tenancy agreement or temporary / permanent expulsion.

PRIVATE HOUSING
Please take into account that it won’t be easy to find a suitable living unit for a short stay. Not all landlords are willing to sign tenancy agreements for less than 12 months.

If you want to look for accommodation yourself, you should search for notice boards stating ‘te huur’ ‘studentenkamers te huur’ (student room for rent). ‘Room hunting’ may take a couple of days of walking around the city. Feel free to ask the Housing Office for a list of addresses of ‘short term rentals’.
Keep in mind that you will be required to pay a one to three months’ deposit upon arrival. Please contact the landlord yourself.

TRANSPORT

Getting around can be a particular challenge for Ghent University’s many students and employees, as Ghent University does not have one single campus. The university buildings are spread all over town. The most popular—and advisable—way to move around in Ghent is by bike.

RENTING A BIKE

StudentENmobiliteit gives UGent students the opportunity to rent a bike for a few months or even one year (€ 15 for 3 months / € 45 for 12 months).

What do you need to bring along when you want to rent a bike:

- student card
- your passport or identity card
- a € 60 deposit and the rental price in cash

Thursday: 10:00 – 12:00 and from 13:00 – 18:45 (repair shop until 16:30) / Friday closed
In case of theft of your bicycle: report it to the police within 24 hours, and try to notify “StudentENmobiliteit” as soon as possible.

Bicycles that are not safely secured or seem to be neglected are often picked up again by “StudentENmobiliteit”. Bicycles outside the city centre and in the Ghent suburbs are subject to the same treatment. Such initiatives are taken to prevent bicycles from being stolen or rusting away.

If you aren't planning to use your bike regularly or if you are looking to rent an extra bike for friends and family visiting other options are available:
- Max Mobiel http://www.max-mobiel.be/
- Blue-bike http://www.blue-bike.be/en

ANTI-THEFT TIPS

Bicycle thefts happen every day... The use of the bicycle lock is necessary to discourage thieves, but it's even better to use an extra padlock.

Some more tips:
- Always secure your bike (even if you leave it for just a second).
- Secure your bike to a pole, fence, bike stand etc. (never to a traffic sign).
- Use a sturdy lock.
- Make sure that removing your bike takes some time (e.g. use two locks).
- Leave your bike at a safe and visible place (preferably a bike shed or stand). Avoid dark or abandoned places.
BICYCLE REPAIR

Please check the latest opening hours of the different repair points on the following webpage:

UGent staff and students can make use of several bike repair shops. All shops are open to UGent students.

You can repair your bike using the repair shop's tools and/or buy new parts at a very reasonable price. There's always someone at hand to help and advise you.

BUSES AND TRAMS

Public transport in the city is well-organized. Buses and trams ride from early in the morning till late at night.

To determine the price of a bus ride, Ghent and its surroundings have been divided into zones. The price for a ticket depends on the number of zones that you travel through. You can choose between several ways of paying for your ride. Have a close look at the different tickets that are offered according to your transport needs: prices may differ considerably (prices below with reservation to changes made by the transport company De Lijn).

Public transport in Belgium is managed on the regional level. Hence Brussels and Wallonia have separate public transport companies. For this reason the tickets are only valid in Flanders.

- Single journey: in the city centre a ticket is valid for 1 hour including changes of bus/tram without restriction, price: € 3 (if you buy a ticket by SMS, you pay € 1,95 . Send ‘DL’ to 4884).

- Lijnkaart: in case you will be using city buses or trams more regularly you are better off buying a ‘Lijnkaart’ (€ 14 in presale for 10 rides), which you stamp each time you make a trip. Valid in all Flemish cities.

- Day Ticket: allows you to travel through Ghent on any tram or bus for the whole day; costs € 8 (or € 6 in presale). Also 3-day & 5-day tickets available.
- Buzzy Pass or Omnipas: If you will be using the buses and trams for a longer period, it might be a lot cheaper to buy a ‘season ticket’: a ‘Buzzy Pazz’ or an ‘Omnipas’. Both cards are valid on any bus and tram of ‘De Lijn’. You can also use these season tickets in other Flemish cities and at the Belgian coast.

TRAIN

In Ghent there are two railway stations: Gent Sint-Pieters (main station) and Gent Dampoort – which allow smooth access to the whole Belgian railway network.

- If you are younger than 26, and planning to travel frequently by train it is more interesting to buy a GO Pass (valid for 1 year – 10 rides (2nd class single) between two Belgian stations; € 51); so one single journey only costs € 5,1. It’s possible to use the Go Pass with several people at the same time. The Go Pass is particularly advantageous for longer journeys.

- If you’re 26 or older, you can use the RAIL Pass. This card gives the same benefits as the GO Pass, but it costs € 76. More information: www.b-rail.be

- Also ask for weekend-tickets in the stations. They are 50% cheaper!
You can travel by high-speed train from Brussels to:

- Paris, Amsterdam, Aachen, Köln, Schiphol, Den Haag, Rotterdam, etc. with the Thalys train: www.thalys.com
- London, Ashford, Lille with the Eurostar train: www.eurostar.com

LONG DISTANCE TRAVELLING

Share a ride at Blablacar.be: to travel to the neighbouring countries for less money. You can easily book your seat online and travel from city A to city B, even last minute. Weekends are perfect to find a ride, as a lot of people go home for a weekend after the work week.

Long distance buses: Flixbus, Eurolines, Megabus and other companies have a broad range of destinations in Belgium, France, The Netherlands, Germany, Spain... Check out their promotions and get away for less than € 10.

AEROPLANE

Belgium has a number of commercial airports but the 2 major international airports are Brussels Airport (Brussel Nationale Luchthaven) in Zaventem and Charleroi Airport (aka: ‘Brussels South’).
It is safer to deposit your money in a bank rather than leaving large amounts of cash in your room, even if the door is locked, or walking around with it.

For some international students it is necessary to open a bank account shortly after arrival in order to be able to receive the grant they are entitled to.

The Belgian currency is the Euro (€, EUR). There are 8 coins and 7 notes:
- coins: coins of € 1 and 2 and coins of 50, 20, 10, 5, 2 and 1 eurocents;
- notes: notes of € 500, 200, 100, 50, 20, 10 and 5.
All prices in Belgium include VAT and service.

There are many branches of different banks in Ghent. Most banks are open on weekdays from 09:00 – 12:00 and from 14:00 – 16:00. Some banks are open on Saturday morning and have late opening hours once a week. During the weekend, you can use the ‘Bancontact/Mister Cash’ cash dispensers (ATM) to withdraw money.

At most banks however it will not be possible to open a bank account if you are only staying for a few months. Most banks require a minimum stay of 5/6 months. Please contact the bank in question to ask about the requirements.
You can consult a list of banks in the centre of Ghent on the following website: www.goldenpages.be/banks/ghent

BANK ACCOUNT

To open a bank account you will need your passport or identity card and an address in Ghent.

It can also be useful to take your student card or personnel card with you. Some banks, moreover, require the document ‘Annex 15’ which you receive after having registered at the Migration Office of the City of Ghent (see p. 21).

FOREIGN EXCHANGE & MONEY TRANSFERS

In Ghent you will find a number of places for exchange and money transactions. Most banks also provide these services.

If you need to send money to your home country, you can contact one of the following offices.

Goffin Change (Western Union)
Henegouwenstraat 27
Monday to Friday: 09:15 – 17:45
Saturday: 10:00 – 16:30

Travelex nv – Camrail (Western Union)

Monday to Saturday: 08:00 – 17:45
COST OF LIVING

Living standards are quite high in Belgium. How much money you actually spend will of course depend on your life style and spending habits. The costs for housing, for example, may differ considerably.

If you plan to travel a lot during your stay here, you will of course need a budget for extra travel expenses. Remember that during the first month of your stay there may be extra expenses for insurance, temporary accommodation and deposits, clothing, equipment (kitchen utensils, furniture, etc.) and other things. For an indication of prices you can always have a look at the following website: www.ugent.be/en/living > Cost of living in Belgium.
During your stay you may receive tax letters or other payment requests (all in Dutch).

PROVINCIAL TAX

Everyone who is domiciled in Ghent needs to pay provincial tax. A tax letter will be sent to your address in Ghent. You do not need to fill in any forms – a transfer form with a set payable amount is being sent to your address.

INCOME TAX

All adults holding a residence permit are sent an annual income declaration. Spring is traditionally tax time in Belgium, so watch out for either the ‘manilla’ coloured envelope containing the annual income tax declaration or the provincial tax transfer form. Students who did not work, can send the tax letter back, mentioning ‘not applicable’.

Students who did work (employment contract) will have to fill out the tax form. However, they will not be taxed on revenues from allowances or gifts from family members.
FLEMISH CARE INSURANCE

You may receive a payment request in Dutch for the Flemish Care Insurance (‘Vlaamse Zorgverzekering’). This system provides those who need long-term care with part or full cover for the costs of non-medical care offered by services, professional care providers or informal care providers.

However, most international students are exempt from joining this insurance and therefore from paying this tax, by sending a proof of enrolment / registration at UGent for the current tax year, if they meet the following conditions:

− one is a student or researcher (or family member) with a temporary residence permit
− one comes from a state outside the EU, the EEA and not from Switzerland (their citizens are automatically exempt).

More information is available on: www.ugent.be/en/living/money/taxes.htm
Do not hesitate to ask your contact person at UGent for help.
Keep in mind that sorting out your garbage is obligatory and will save you money.

Ghent University Library comprises the Booktower, 10 faculty libraries and multiple departmental and seminar libraries, spread all over Ghent. The Booktower is one of Ghent’s iconic towers which was designed by the world-renowned architect Henry van de Velde. The ‘Book Tower’ acts as a treasury house for the rich cultural heritage that was both collected by and entrusted to the university (including ancient manuscripts, unique publications, atlas maps, photographs, architectural plans, coins, etchings, drawings and ephemerae). Through scan-on-demand services all this wealth is disclosed fast and easy. Moreover, as a Google-books partner more than 250.000 books are ready for use 24/7.

To discover the rich collections of UGent libraries it’s best to start on the website: http://lib.ugent.be. It is also the gateway for all you library questions via mail, chat, telephone... UGent provides access to over 35,000 electronic journals, almost 1 million e-books and no less than 110 databases. If you know which database or journal to consult, the library website can guide you within the electronic world of scientific communication and cultural heritage. If you don't know yet, we suggest you try Google Scholar as a discovery tool.

The Department of Information and Communication Technology (DICT) provides information to students and staff members about UGentNet, the UGent account and e-mail environment, the online learning environment, software, disk space and web space and phone services.

The most important topics are discussed briefly below. More detailed information can be found on the department’s web page: www.ugent.be/en/facilities/ict/
YOUR ACCOUNT

You receive your account data at registration/enrolment (p. 17), on condition that you agree to abide by the rules of proper use of the UGent network and the computers controlled by DICT. You can find these rules on the DICT helpdesk site.

As long as your registration or enrolment (at the central student administration) has not been completed successfully, you will not obtain your UGent account. Please do make sure that you complete the administrative process in time to avoid delays.

The account data include your (university) e-mail address, your login name and your password.

E-MAIL

A UGent e-mail address looks like this: name.surname@ugent.be Via webmail – owa.ugent.be – you can immediately manage your e-mail, using any internet connection; no configuration is needed.

MINERVA – ONLINE LEARNING ENVIRONMENT

At Ghent University, the official digital learning environment Minerva is used to provide information and course material and to optimize communication between staff and students.

Minerva can only be accessed by students and staff who have a valid UGent account, via minerva.ugent.be
UGENTNET

If you have an account, you can access the UGentNet and the Belgian research network BELNET. Part of the university network is accessible to all. Some internal UGent information is only available after you have logged in with your login name and password. A number of UGent ICT facilities can only be used from computers connected to UGentNet.

Students staying in one of the University Halls of Residence, have direct access to password.ugent.be, the helpdesk website, Minerva, Athena and webmail. For all other applications they need to set up a VPN connection to obtain access. Please note that Internet traffic from rooms in a University Hall of Residence is limited in volume.

On locations outside the university campus, provided that they have a working internet connection, students can set up a VPN connection to get access to UGentNet. The VPN connection is necessary for safety reasons, for example to consult internal information on the helpdesk website and the library website, to mount a network drive, to change passwords, to use Athena, etc.

All necessary information about how to set up a Virtual Private Network (VPN) can be found through the link below: helpdesk.ugent.be/vpn/en

In a number of UGent buildings it is possible to set up a wireless ("wifi") connection. At UGent we have Eduroam.
ATHENA AND SOFTWARE

Having an account allows you to use software offered on Athena. The software you can use is delivered from central servers and is not installed on your device.

In certain circumstances particular software can be installed, e.g. antivirus software for students in the University Halls of Residence. The software can be found at: helpdesk.ugent.be/software/en

PC ROOMS

In all faculties and in a few central locations PC rooms have been set up. Most can be used for both classical sessions and individual study.

The operating system on the PCs is Windows, in English or in Dutch, as chosen by the faculty. Additionally, general and field specific software is installed by the Department of Information and Communication Technology (DICT). More info can be found on: helpdesk.ugent.be/publiccomputer/en

WHERE?

Printing, copying and scanning can be done in PC rooms and libraries.
helpdesk.ugent.be/publiccomputer/en
CENTRAL DISK SPACE

With your account comes central disk space on which you can save files. By default you get 2 network drives:
− Personal disk space: your “homedrive”, H:-drive or G:\home
− Personal web space: on a webserver, meant for setting up a site: your W:-drive or G:\WWW

To use your network drives you have to “mount” them. How you do this is explained on:

PERSONAL WEBSITE

You can set up a personal website: you have personal web space at your disposal and a URL of the form [http://users.ugent.be/~loginname].

More info can be found on helpdesk.ugent.be/webhosting/en/persoonlijk.php

First of all some words of caution: combining academic studies and a student job is not always easy. Moreover, finding a job is quite difficult as an international student.

In case you decide to look for a student job we recommend you to contact the Job Service personally. At the same time they will also offer you valuable advice on your rights and responsibilities.

Before making use of the Job Service registration service, you have to register on the Job Service’s website. Use your login and password (from DICT, see p. 66):

Theoretically every student is allowed to work, on condition that some formalities are fulfilled.

All students from the EU-countries + Norway, Iceland, Liechtenstein and Switzerland need:

- a bank account

Students from other countries need:
- proof of registration at the Foreigners’ Register (see p. 21)
- Belgian national number

it contains the first steps towards some solutions.
UGENT EMERGENCY CENTRE

This Centre reacts to technical incidents (power failure, damage to infrastructure, leakage, stuck elevators, etc.) safety and security incidents (fire, accident, aggression, theft, excessive noise etc.) in the university.

The Ghent University Emergency Centre is open 24/7 and is located at Home Vermeylen (Stalhof 6).

- In case of an emergency, call 88 (via an internal UGent phone) or +32 9 264 88 88
- In case of a non-emergency, call +32 9 264 71 25
- Try to prepare your call by thinking of ‘who, where, when, what and why’.

HEALTH MATTERS

GENERAL PRACTITIONERS (GP)

In the unhappy event of health problems, you can turn to the university’s Medical Service for Students, where a group of GPs runs a practice for students. They are well-acquainted with the student’s medical needs. Also for small surgery and gynaecological consultations students can make use of this service. Consultations are held every working day: during the day an appointment is required, but in the evening there are consultations on a ‘first come, first serve’ basis. In case you have, please take the labels from a local health fund or your insurance certificate with you to the consultation (see p. 85). In most cases however it will be sufficient to present your national ID number (‘rijksregister-nummer’). This is the number which you can find on your electronic residence card.

Note: the GPs are not available via e-mail (neither for appointments, nor for diagnosis or prescriptions).

Hospital emergency services are expensive.
If your condition is not immediately life-threatening, you should try consulting a GP first.
Students or staff can indeed also contact a general practitioner elsewhere in town. It is recommended to consult a GP first instead of going immediately to a specialist or the emergency service of the hospital:

- GPs are easier to reach.
- A GP will keep your medical history on file. This is important since information from previous medical examinations may be relevant to your present condition. It also means that the GP does not need to repeat medical tests or examinations you may already have had. This can save you a lot of money, time, and possible discomfort.
- With certain medical conditions, it is not always clear which specialist is most qualified. On your own, you might have to try several specialists before finding the right one, whereas a GP can quickly diagnose your problem and refer you to the proper specialist.

Information about sexual health / family planning:
SENSOA  www.sensoa.be
PROOF OF REGISTRATION AT A LOCAL HEALTH FUND: LABELS / NATIONAL ID NUMBER (‘RIJKSREGISTERNUMMER’)

When you take out health insurance via a standard health care insurance company (‘ziekenfonds/mutualiteit’), you will receive a page of detachable official address labels (e.g. necessary when medical samples are taken).

Please take your labels and/or national ID number (mentioned on your electronic residence card) with you every time you go to the pharmacy, a doctor, a hospital, or to the health insurance office. If you don’t have proof or your registration at a local health insurance company with you, you will have to pay the full amount at the pharmacy. In this case, ask for the N704 form for reimbursement so that you can be reimbursed by the health insurance company.

If you need to go to hospital and you don’t have proof of your registration at a health fund with you, you will get an invoice for the total cost. Don’t pay it – simply bring it to the health insurance company, and they will take care of it (but you will have to pay some costs yourself). But beware: if you present yourself at the emergency room, you will be expected to pay immediately (a fee of ca. € 160). A possible reimbursement will only happen after the insurance company has received all invoices.
DENTISTS

Basic dental care costs are reimbursed up to a certain extent by the local health funds ('mutualiteiten').

Keep in mind that specialized dental care can be quite expensive. For further details about which dental care costs can be (partially) reimbursed, please check with your health insurance company. A list of all dentists in and around Ghent can be found in the Yellow Pages: www.goldenpages.be > Dentists > Gent or on the website www.tandarts.be.

Dentists with weekend and night duty (emergency cases only): T +32 903 399 69 (€ 1.50/min).

PHARMACIES

Medication and certain health products are available from a local pharmacy. A pharmacy supplies two kinds of medication: medication prepared by the pharmacist himself and medication which is industrially produced.

Pharmacies are subject to strict rules. For example, they are not allowed to supply certain medication without a medical prescription.
Medication on prescription cannot be delivered by a Belgian pharmacy on the basis of a prescription from abroad. You will need to go to a GP or hospital to ask for a new medical prescription.

Ask the GP and pharmacist for generic medication. Generic products are characteristically lower in price than those with brand names and sold in plain, cheap packaging.

Opening hours / urgencies:
Pharmacies are usually closed on Saturdays and Sundays. A limited number of pharmacists are on duty during the weekend and at night for patients in urgent need of medication.

In that case, however, an extra fee will be charged. A list of on-duty pharmacists is displayed at every (closed) pharmacy.

PSYCHOLOGICAL HELP

Students who are at odds with their studies because of personal distress and/or ineffective study habits can turn to the Student Counselling Office. Psychologists, well-acquainted with study problems or psychological problems that students may have, are available for counselling. In consultation with the student an appropriate treatment can be started or, when necessary, the student can be referred to a specialized psychologist for further therapy.

No better way to explore the Flemish culture than by learning the local language, Dutch. By doing this you will join more than 23 million Dutch-speaking people in the world.

The University Language Centre (UCT) offers excellent Dutch courses at various levels. The UCT also organizes language courses in 9 different modern European languages, as well as Arabic and Turkish, Flemish Sign Language and Latin, for students, staff and the general public.

To deliver all of this, the Language Centre can count on experienced language teachers and years of expertise, which guarantees a high-quality University language education. The courses are a combination of class sessions and self-study. Most courses start at the beginning of each semester. Students pay reduced fees (more or less half price). For more information, prices, schedules, etc. we refer you to the UCT website: www.uct.ugent.be

Note: in UCT, payment is only possible with bank or credit card or via bank transfer. Cash payment is not allowed.
LANGUAGE SUPPORT

The language of instruction at Ghent University is Dutch. In a number of master courses it is English.

If you feel unsure about your knowledge of English or Dutch you can turn to the University Language Centre (UCT) for an elaborate choice of courses of academic language skills, both in English and in Dutch.

ECTS

Specific Dutch and English courses are organized (at reduced fees) for which ECTS credits can be obtained by certain groups of students, including PhD students. In order to be able to obtain ECTS credits exchange students need to include the language course(s) in their Learning Agreement. Exchange students who are coming in the framework of a bilateral agreement are entitled to a reduction when they register for a course of Dutch at the UCT.

LOW COUNTRIES STUDIES

Low Countries Studies is a post-academic acculturation programme for both exchange students and international degree students as well as international researchers and staff wanting to learn more about Flanders, Belgium and the Netherlands. The students get a broad overview of various aspects of Flemish society (language, art and culture, history, politics, the media, the Flemish landscape, town and country planning, ethics, etc …) and everyday customs in Flanders. The programme consists of a series of 12 lectures in English and a number of extra activities.

If you have a valid UGent student card, the programme is free, but you still need to register officially. Researchers and personnel without a student card need to take out a general UGent student registration. This costs about 230 EUR (annually adjusted).

The Low Countries Studies programme does not lead to a degree, only to a certificate. The programme is not a full-time degree programme and cannot be used to gain access to university studies. If you are a student, you need to follow it as an additional programme. Since this is a post-academic programme, there are no ECTS credits to be obtained. The programme starts in the second semester (February – end of May). From mid-November you can find all necessary information as well as the procedure of registration on the website: www.ugent.be/lw/lcs

THE ACADEMIC YEAR –
EXAMINATION PERIODS – ECTS

The academic year at Ghent University is divided into two semesters. The first Semester ends by the end of December, and is followed by examinations in January-February (4 weeks, starting after the winter break). The exams of the second semester are held in June (5 weeks).

ECTS

Ghent University has adopted the European Credit Transfer System (ECTS). The number of ECTS credits per course unit can be found in the course catalogue. 1 ECTS credit equals 25–30 hours of study. A complete year of study in Belgium is normally 60 ECTS. The number of ECTS credits assigned to a course unit is not related to the number of class hours. The credits give an indication of the total number of hours you are expected to spend on the course unit (including preparing for and attending classes, practical or lab work, reading books, writing papers, studying for tests and exams, etc). The number of contact hours you have in class depends on the nature of the course unit. For questions on specific course units and the ECTS credits allocated to them, you contact the FCI Administrator (see p. 113) of the faculty concerned.
EXAMINATION PERIODS

Examinations are held in January and June. A course unit must be fully completed before an exam can take place. However, full-year course units take longer than only one semester. Examinations for these courses always take place in June.

At the end of August / beginning of September a second examination period is organized. Students can use this period to retake (failed) courses from both the first and the second semester.

Examinations can be oral and/or written. This is clearly described in the ECTS course specifications in the UGent course catalogue of the current academic year: http://studiegids.ugent.be/2016/EN/studiegids.html

Grades received for practical exercises and the results of written and oral tests during the year may also be taken into account for the final result, as part of a system of permanent evaluation. For each course unit the evaluation/examination method is indicated in the course catalogue, as well as the minimum requirements for awarding credit points.

For more information on the academic system in the Education and Examination Code please check p. 32.
Grades obtained abroad are converted to the home grading scale by comparing grading tables, as advocated in the 2015 ECTS users' guide. When grading tables of the host university are available UGent uses the Egracons conversion Tool (see www.egracons.eu).

For visiting exchange students it is the task of the home university to provide their own grading tables in order to make conversion possible.

STUDENT LIFE

STUDENT ACTIVITIES AND SOCIETIES

One of the best ways to get a feel of the place is to become involved in student activities, perhaps by joining one of the several dozen student societies. There are cultural groups (a theatre group also playing in other languages, photography class, painting class, orchestras, …), workgroups on social and scientific issues, political and philosophical groups, specific international students’ associations, a home council for students living in the Home Kantienberg and a special Erasmus Student Network.

More information about all of these can be obtained from the Student House (Studentenhuis De Therminal, Campus Tweekerken, Hoveniersberg 24, 9000 Gent, T +32 9 264 70 85), which has leaflets giving full details of student societies – website: http://student.ugent.be.

A list of all UGent student societies can be found here: http://student.ugent.be/konventen/alle.php
ERASMUS STUDENT NETWORK GENT (ESN GENT)

Erasmus Student Network (ESN)

In 1989 the Erasmus Bureau invited 32 former Erasmus Students for an evaluation meeting in Gent, Belgium. This meeting was a starting point for Erasmus Student Network. The problems that became obvious in the evaluation were the main tasks for the founders of ESN to work on. Behind all this stood the idea of “students helping students”, which is still the most important motto of ESN volunteers.

The year 1990 marks the birth year of ESN Gent. Now it is one of the 521 ESN sections across 39 countries in Europe. ESN is considered to be one of the biggest volunteer and student organizations in Europe with over 13,600 volunteers and students whom dedicate their time to service over 180,000 international students a year on a voluntary basis.

The mission of ESN Gent is to help all incoming international and exchange students and to make their stay in Ghent as pleasant as possible. GHENT / PROVINCE OF EAST FLANDERS

Last but not least a word about the terrific and lively city you are studying in.

Ghent is a great city to be a student; at present days Ghent is even the biggest student town in Flanders attracting more than 70,000 students. It is a pleasant and lively city; cosy corners alternate with pleasant and busy shopping streets.

What’s more, it is also a strong cultural attraction pole with important music and film festivals, as well as a variegated theatre and performance scene. The University campus is spread all over the city, which enlivens the atmosphere.

In the 16th century Ghent was one of the most powerful cities in north western Europe. The city centre still breathes history and sociability. Nowadays it is the capital of the Province of East Flanders (part of the Dutch-speaking community) and the lively core of a large area (population approximately 250,000).
Situated at the intersection of 2 European traffic arteries (E17 and E40), Ghent is very easy to reach by car as well as by train; the seaside or Brussels and Antwerp are only half an hour away. Other cities like Paris, London, Amsterdam and Köln are within reach for a one-day city trip.

STUDENT IN GHENT: “INSANELY SMART”

The ‘student officer’ of the City of Ghent acts as an intermediary between students, the institutions of higher education in Ghent and the city government. He/she functions as the ambassador of students in the city government, monitors current initiatives for and by students and encourages new ones.

The student officer can be reached by email on the following address: studentenambtenaar@stad.gent
